

For the first issue of 2010, ENR wants to capture " The Year in Construction" through the photos readers have taken of projects and people. We're asking our picture-taking readers--individuals and firms, amateurs and pros--to submit their best construction photos, taken anywhere in the world between Nov. 8, 2008 and Nov. 6, 2009. We want dynamic, well-composed, dramatic and aesthetically pleasing pictures of people working safely in the construction world.

A panel of judges from ENR and other McGraw-Hill publications and guests will select the best of the best for presentation in ENR's print issue of Jan 4, 2010. The judges' picks also will be featured online. Please complete all sections of the entry form below, using the "submission" box to attach your digital image, and the "submit" button to send it in electronically. Entry deadline is Nov. 6, 2009. The online submissions system will open Wednesday Sept. 23. Send questions to enr_photo_contest@mcgraw-hill.com

By submitting images, photographers grant the McGraw-Hill Companies non-exclusive world rights to reproduce the images in print and electronic publications. If submitter is not the photographer, submitter warrants that those rights have been secured by them from the photographer for this purpose and agrees to be solely responsible for any claims of copyright infringement.
